Arani, Holtgers, Royce and Rizvi Ride to Victory for Zone 4

In a fight right down to the finish, Zone 4 emerged victorious in the $15,000 Neue Schule/USEF Prix des States Team Championships on Friday in the Harrisburg Coliseum.

Clinching the win for Zone 4 were Reid Arani riding Hocus Pocus de Muze, Ansgar Holtgers aboard Elina, Zayne Rizvi with Excellent, and Hailey Royce on Sonic Boom, all hailing from Wellington, FL, and led by Chef d'Equipe Kim Land.

Following the conclusion of Friday night's first round, the field of 29 riders returned to contest the same Manuel Esparaza-designed course again in the second round, and the race for the gold ultimately came down to the final three riders.

At that point, the teams from Zones 7, 4 and 2 were all still able to finish on no faults at all. Therefore, the determining factor was each of the teams' anchor riders, and Holtgers delivered for Zone 4. As rails fell for Zones 7 and 2, Holtgers and Elina came home clear, ultimately clinching the win for the United States Hunter Jumper Association (USHJA) Zone 4 team.

"I thought, 'now I have to go clear and put some pressure on' and go quick enough, but once I entered the ring, it's just another class," said Holtgers, 16. "I have to jump clear. That's the first thing, and the most important thing. It worked out, and my horse is just unreal. She's honestly a life changing horse."

While the win may have come down to Holtgers' and Elina's return ride, it would not have if it were not also for Rizvi's, Royce's, and Arani's clear rounds throughout the evening. All four riders produced at least one clear round and Rizvi and Arani both jumped double clear.

"We've been working toward this all year, and it was really cool to just go out there and, end up on top with all these amazing riders," said Rizvi, 16. "I think it really means a lot to all of us."

Second place and the silver medals went to the Zone 7 team of Carlee McCutcheon on MTM Unexpected, Hensley Humphries aboard Hutchinson, Laurel Walker riding Gatsby, Genevieve Munson with Zonderling, and Chef d'Equipe Matt Cyphert. Taking home the bronze was the Zone 2 team of Madison Rauschenbach, Audrey Schulze, Alexa Elle Lignelli, Mimi Gochman, and Chef d'Equipes Ralph Caristo and Krista Freundlich.

The Neue Schule/USEF Junior Jumper Individual National Championships -Phase II ran concurrently with Friday night's Prix des States competition, and Taylor Kraft of Bernardsville, NJ, currently leads the way heading into this evening's final phase of the individual championship.

SPONSOR SPOTLIGHT

Green is the New Blue is an environmental non-profit that strives to reduce the environmental impacts of equine related events and activities. We encourage others to incorporate green practices into daily operations.

Green is the New Blue has two simple goals: to educate the equine industry about best practices for sustainability and ecological safety, and provide the tools to make these changes easy and straight-forward to implement.

Green is the New Blue was founded by amateur rider Stephanie Bulger when she realized the detrimental impact horse events and venues had on the environment. Between the countless fans, organic waste (manure), and general carelessness, Stephanie knew right then and there that the equine industry needs to do better.

Small changes have huge impacts. Green is the New Blue is dedicated to preserving the planet for the animals we love and their future riders. Our goal is to empower and inspire equestrians to join us in our mission to clean up horse shows and reduce their environmental impact.

FEATURED MEMORY

Mimi Gochman - "I love this facility. I've always loved this hallway[to the ingate of the Coliseum]. This hallway has memories from when I was in ponies and all of that. I was always getting dressed in the hallway and there's always a lot of anticipation looking into that light of the ring. It's bright in there, and you walk up and your horses prick their ears and get ready."
