We are pleased to welcome The EMO Agency as the Title Sponsor of the EMO Agency Terrace. For 2016, the EMO Agency Terrace will take on a new look - with new decor, enhanced menu options, on site bar and improved seating.

"The EMO Agency Terrace will create a whole new level of VIP seating and hospitality at this year's horse show," said Susie Webb Executive Director of the Pennsylvania National Horse Show. "Guests will be able to sit in an upscale yet comfortable setting overlooking the competition and enjoy everything from a light breakfast to an afternoon cocktail and hors d'oeuvres." These beautiful, new farm tables will be available for purchase from Attic Treasures & Woodworking at the conclusion of the Show.

"We are so happy to increase our sponsorship of the Pennsylvania National Horse Show to include the EMO Agency Terrace Tables. For the past two years we have presented the "EMO High Five Awards" to the highest scoring rounds in several categories, said E. Sue Bopp of the EMO Agency. Equithrive

A COMPANY BUILT ON SCIENCE

In 2007, Dr. Patrick Lawless was working as a biopharmaceutical research scientist developing new anti-inflammatory drugs when he witnessed Kentucky Derby winner Barbaro's tragic breakdown in the Preakness Stakes. With the entire nation, he followed the courageous battle waged by this horse and his caretakers until he finally succumbed to the tragedy of laminitis.

Through his own research, Dr. Lawless had become familiar with the natural anti-inflammatory compound Resveratrol. Resveratrol was receiving a great deal of recognition at that time due to it being the first compound identified to activate the "anti-aging gene" SIRT1. Pat realized that there was an opportunity to use Resveratrol to help horses suffering from chronic inflammatory conditions, such as arthritis, Equine Metabolic Syndrome (EMS) and laminitis.

In 2008, Dr. Lawless founded the company Equithrive and introduced the first equine product (Equithrive® Joint) to contain a purified form of Resveratrol. Since then, the efficacy of Equithrive Joint in reducing lameness, inflammation and oxidative stress in animals has been proven in multiple university studies. The company has also launched a higher dose Resveratrol product (Metabarol™) that was the first equine product demonstrated to lower insulin levels in horses with EMS.
