Hunt Tosh and Cannon Creek are Just Grand

Hunt Tosh and Cannon Creek, owned by the Wheeler Family, earned the 2021 Pennsylvania National Horse Show Grand Hunter Championship on Tuesday.

With a clean sweep of the High Performance Hunter over fences classes and a second-place finish in the under saddle aboard Cannon Creek, Tosh was also named the 2021 Leading Hunter Rider as the competitor with the most points in one division. For his classic riding style, Tosh was additionally recognized by the judges as the 2021 recipient of the Kenneth Wheeler Style of Riding Award.

"When you look at the trophies at the names of the horses, the number of great horses that they've had come here [to the PNHS] is incredible," said Tosh, of Alpharetta, GA. "I'm so lucky to ride for the Wheelers on some of those great horses. Then obviously to win the Kenny Wheeler Style of Riding Award today with him passing this year, it was very special."

Tosh and Cannon Creek's success at the PNHS comes as part of an already banner year that included victory in the United States Hunter Jumper Association (USHJA) International Hunter Derby Championship in August, and for Tosh, Cannon Creek's accomplishments bear a striking resemblance to another PNHS grand champion.

"[Cannon Creek] has always reminded us of Lone Star so much, first with winning Derby Finals, and Lone Star also did this here," said Tosh, referencing the horse he rode to wins at both the International Hunter Derby Championship and the PNHS in 2010. "To have [Cannon Creek] follow in Lone Star's footsteps again is special."

"Cannon Creek's been phenomenal all year," continued Tosh in speaking of the 10-year-old Holsteiner gelding. "He's got such a good brain to begin with. He's very simple to prepare and simple to show. He really makes my job easy. He tries not to make mistakes in the ring, so he's just a great show horse."

For the Grand Hunter Championship, Cannon Creek's name will be added to the Beaufort Hunt Perpetual Trophy, donated by the late Col. and Mrs. J.B. Hollis, Jr. in memory of their daughter, Shari Hollis. For the Leading Hunter Rider Award, Tosh's name will be added to the Elizabeth M. Solter Memorial Perpetual Trophy, and as the trainer of the grand champion hunter, Tosh's name will also be added to the Jack Stedding Memorial Perpetual Trophy.

Tosh also earned the Green Hunter 3'9" division championship, sponsored by Copper Fox LLC/Kendall Meijer, with Autograph, owned by Ceil Wheeler. For the win, Autograph's name will be added to the John R. Sterling Memorial Perpetual Trophy, donated by the Pennsylvania National Horse Show.

"The show this year is great," Tosh concluded. "Pat [Boyle] did a great job revamping Harrisburg. The footing was great. The schooling areas are so much nicer and give us more room. The jumps are beautiful – just everything had a true facelift since we were here two years ago. The whole horse show was run beautifully, and it was great being here."

UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Q&A WITH: PAT BOYLE

Earlier this year, Patrick Boyle was welcomed as the new competition manager for the 2021 Pennsylvania National Horse Show, bringing with him a wealth of knowledge and years of experience.

As the owner of Showplace Productions, one of the leading horse show management companies in the country, Boyle produces more than 30 hunter and jumper competitions every year at top venues across the U.S. He's a U.S. Equestrian Federation "R" judge, a USEF licensed-course designer, a trainer, a father and someone that the PNHS staff is proud to have on our team.

Q: Why are you proud to be a part of the PA National Horse Show?

A: I think the most important part for me coming into this role is the belief that it's one of those horse shows that we can't let go away. I showed there as a kid; my daughter had success there. We want to keep this horse show and its tradition going forward into the next century for the riders that we have coming up. We're losing a lot of the older, Heritage horse shows. For me, it's about being a part of keeping the horse show going forward.

Q: What's your earliest memory of PA National Horse Show?

A: I want to say 45 years ago I went to my first medal finals at Harrisburg. We didn't have a horse that could compete there, and we didn't have any money. I remember my dad leasing a horse from Colorado that didn't do lead changes but at least I got to go and compete which is all that really mattered at the time. Over the next few years, we qualified for the Junior Jumpers and had my first taste of team competition which was a great experience.

Q: In general, what are you most proud of?

A: I would have to say that having the respect of my peers in the way that I approach managing horse shows or special events would be on top. I try to run shows from an exhibitor's point of view and to try and think how I would like it when I would show up with all of my customers. I am also really into the esthetics of the show rings and the overall look of the facilities which I think I have a pretty good reputation for.

FORRESTER FARM EQUIPMENT

Forrester Farm Equipment treats you like family with values based on excellent service and support to our customers.

Forrester Farm Equipment was established in 1976. Jay Forrester, started selling tractors from their Lincoln Way East location. At that time the main business was selling used tractors imported from Europe. His knowledge of Ford tractors eventually lead to ownership of his own Ford New Holland tractor dealership in 1988.

In 1989 the dealership expanded to carry the full line of Ford New Holland tractors and equipment.
